

Gun Violence Prevention Challenge Summit & Hack-a-thon

April 13 – 15, 2018 | Boston, Massachusetts

Morgan is a people-focused design strategist and innovation practitioner with expertise in strategic planning, systems thinking, and design thinking methodologies. She has facilitated design thinking and strategy workshops at TED conferences, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the World Futures Society Summit, among others. Morgan is energetic and enjoys building community, connecting the dots in new ways, and convening teams to collaboratively solve problems. Morgan joined the N Square Collaborative because she believes that the nuclear threat is a solvable problem, and that innovation frameworks are essential to uncovering unexpected and effective solutions. Her background is varied and spans the career gamut from social innovation consulting and real estate to working in the media department of a professional baseball team. Morgan has a deep passion for strategy and assistant teaches the Managerial and Sustainable Strategy course at Presidio Graduate School where she leads the scenario planning module. Her education includes a BA in International and Intercultural Communications from California State University of Sacramento and an MBA in Sustainable Management from Presidio Graduate School. On the weekends Morgan can be found hiking or snowboarding in Tahoe or running in Golden Gate Park with her dog, Butters.
